Any Relief for Farmer 'Pure Luck'

"Dirt Farmer" From Pacific Coast Tells Delegates Facts

America Soon Will Be a Food Importing Nation Says Food Director

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Promised fireworks in President Harding's national agricultural conference materialized this afternoon.

L. H. Francisco, self-styled "dirt farmer" of San Diego, Calif., denied a hearing in open session of the conference, charged "rotten" methods were being exerted and asserted that any relief the conference may recommend for the farmers of the nation will be "just pure luck."

Chairman Anderson entered a motion for a recess, while Francisco was vehemently demanding to be heard. Unless Uncle Sam's dollar gets back to pre-war buying power so that the supply and demand for foodstuffs in the United States can be equalized, America will be essentially a food importing nation within from fifteen to thirty years, Dr. E. D. Ball, director of scientific work in the United States department of agriculture, told the conference today.

Aggressive action must be taken by the whole American people at once or foreign markets will have to be relied upon for the millions of Americans who want to eat, Dr. Ball said.

Those who believe the nation's farming depression is due largely to over-production and no market demand received a staggering blow from the speaker.

"The fact is there is no over-production," he said. "What the world is suffering from is under-consumption. There is not enough food in the world at present to provide for normal consumption."

BOMB EXPLOSION DOES BIG DAMAGE IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—A terrific bomb explosion today in the doorway of the Warsaw Bakery, Hamtramck, three scores of citizens from their beds, slightly injured two and did a property damage of $20,000.

The explosion is said by David Rosen, proprietor of the bakery, to have been the work of rival bakers who objected to the Warsaw company selling bread at five cents a loaf.

TAR AND FEATHERING IN KEY WEST, MIAMI REPORTS

MIAMI, Jan. 26.—Two automobile loads of men swooped down on his store and kidnapped Frances Reid, 69 years of age, at Key West fruit dealer, at 9 o'clock last night, according to a dispatch received here.

The police set out in search of the abductors. Two hours later, after they had returned, the cars drove back to Reid's store and dumped him out, tarred and feathered.

CONGRESS GETS TOE-HOLD ON FUNDING BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Under an amendment to the pending foreign debt refunding bill proposed by Senator John R. Burton, of California, in the senate today, congress would have to approve any agreement entered into for the liquidation of any part of the $110,000,000 foreign indebtedness to the United States before they would become effective.

MISTAKE BEFURRED WOMAN FOR A NAUGHTY THIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—A handsome fur coat and a society girl cost a prominent San Francisco woman many unpleasant minutes during the holiday shopping period.

Detectives were warned a shoplifter "de luxe" was coming this way, and when they saw a woman in a fur coat some fur coat making the rounds of the department stores they began trailing her.

They couldn't detect her lifting anything and finally called upon her to explain her identity. She was fully successful in doing after some trouble.

Lines and taken in captivity require one day a week without food to keep them in good health.

FRESH OUTBREAKS AT CAIRO CAUSE DEATH OF 190; MANY HURT

LONDON, Jan. 26.—One hundred and ninety persons were killed and about one thousand were wounded in a fresh outbreak of disorders at Cairo, according to a dispatch received this afternoon by the Star.

The dispatch said order has been restored by British troops.

The foregoing fatal riots were the first widespread disorders reported since the arrest of the Egyptian nationalists who inaugurated a boycott against their rulers in Egypt.

The Egyptian nationalists, evidently emboldened by the success of the Sinn Féin in Ireland, are demanding that Great Britain release Egypt as a protectorate and grant the Egyptians their freedom. Most of the agitators are young students.

CHARGE MADE BEFORE THE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

COLONEL DENIES THE CHARGE, SAYING HE HAD NOT HEARD OF IT

More Evidence Piles Up Before Senate Committee of Alleged Hangings of Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(By I. N. S.)—The name of Col. Paul D. Malone, formerly a brigadier general in the fifth division, was brought up today during the investigation by a Senate committee of Senator "Tom" Watson's charges of mistreatment of American soldiers in France.

The charges were made in a letter read to the committee and promptly denied by Col. R. C. Langdon, of the army war college, that Malone shot down a soldier in France because the enlisted man was not marching fast enough.

W. H. Newbold, an attorney of Chicago, S. C., made the accusation against Malone in a letter to Senator Dial, Democrat of South Carolina. Dial read the letter to the committee.

Col. Langdon, who commanded the 10th Infantry in France, told the committee that he never witnessed or reported such a shooting and never heard of such a thing.

Newbold in his letter quoted statements made by L. B. Henderson, formerly Langdon's orderly, as saying that while troops were on the march in France, Malone, then a colonel of the 2nd regiment, tried to ride his horse over some men who were lagging from exhaustion and that the second time he shot one of them down.

Langdon said he thought Henderson was suffering from hallucinations. Henderson was quoted as saying the men had been marching two days without food or water.

Senator Henderson announced Henderson would be called at a witness.

F. C. Morgan, of Louisville, Ala., formerly second lieutenant at Fort Totten, testified along the same line as nearly a dozen previous witnesses concerning the hanging of a soldier. He denied that Malone shot more than two soldiers in war department records.

First lieutenant W. F. Brown, of the 10th Infantry, testified that he saw the hanging of a soldier in France. He said he saw the body of the soldier hanging from a gallows.

Why was it that practice of hanging the men was not taught in France? There were lots of things done in France I never heard of before, he said.

Last Rites Performed Over Body

Funeral Was Private Invitations Being Issued to Few

Mortal Remains Placed In a Triple Coffin, All Being Carefully Sealed

ROME, Italy, Jan. 26.—In the great cathedral of St. Peter's, daily solemn as funeral services were conducted today for the late Pope Benedict XV. The body was buried in a crypt in a response to the living wishes of the late sovereign pontiff of the church, the mortal remains will find their last resting place as close as possible to the tomb of Peter.

Ordinarily nine days are given over to the papal funeral ceremonies, but Benedict XV had left the expressed wish that his body not be embalmed. This made it necessary to hold the interment sooner than usual.

Members of the noble guard—the hon-cho troops of the Vatican—attired in medieval uniforms with halberds, acted as pall-bearers. The candles and torches cast a flickering light upon the polished marble of the apse, vaulted cathedral, and upon the ancient weapons of the guards.

Slow and solemn was the funeral procession. As it passed the pious murmured prayers for the repose of the Pontiff's soul. The flowing robes of the cardinals were overlaid with stars, the panel of the coffin was covered with the papal colors of the Vatican.

The funeral was in private, the invitations being restricted to the cardinals, officials of the Vatican, members of the diplomatic corps and members of papal families.

Long before the hour set for the final rites, great crowds had begun to gather in the streets flanking the Vatican and especially in the piazza of St. Peter's outside the cathedral. These crowds waited for only half an hour before the funeral procession entered from all parts of Europe. Many Americans, devout members of the church, were in the line of the funeral.

ITALY ADMITS THAT PROPOSED MEETING WILL BE CANCELLED

EXPECTED TO ANNOUNCE DECISION OF GOV'T NOT TO ATTEND

Great Britain Continues Struggle to Overcome American Opposition

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Admission was made in Downing street circles today that the proposed international economic conference at Genoa may be postponed if the United States and France continue their present policy of opposition. It is understood, however, that Great Britain is proceeding with plans to answer the opposition of the United States and try to overcome them so that the conference can go ahead as planned, with Washington represented.

France Channing, the only American-born male member of Parliament today made a stinging attack against Premier Lloyd George for consenting to the presence of delegates from Soviet Russia at the proposed conference at Genoa.

Harding to Give Reasons

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The President will shortly take steps to recall the invitation which it issued for the Genoa economic conference, according to information obtained today in official quarters.

The understanding that would be reached by the Italian government to an American refusal to participate would be a serious blow.

The opinion prevails that President Harding will in the next few days, possibly tomorrow, announce publicly the administration's decision against participating in the Genoa meeting and the reasons therefor. These reasons are understood to be of a technical nature.

The United States government would be the first of dealing with Soviet Russia as a belligerent power, as a result of the Genoa conference. The United States government would be the first of dealing with Soviet Russia as a belligerent power, as a result of the Genoa conference.

TRIAL OF "PEACHTREE BANDIT" STARTS WITH TESTIMONY OF WIDOW

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 26.—With Mrs. Iry C. Walker, widow of the detective who was slain while trying to stop the bandit who stole a valuable diamond ring from a Peachtree jewelry store and fled on the streets of the city, the trial of the bandit, under indictment as the bandit, started here today. The trial is charged with murder.

Mrs. Walker testified to the fact that her husband was slain and was executed.

Mrs. Walker was followed by Nat Ullman, president of the jewelry company, who described the robbery.

It was announced that testimony would be continued until 2 p. m. with no recess for lunch and that adjournment then would be taken until tomorrow.

A huge crowd was on hand to see the trial and the court room doors were kept when seats were filled.

Dupre, accompanied by his father, was composed as the task of selecting a jury got under way. The elder Dupre, on the other hand, exhibited considerable agitation.

WEARINGS ON THE SOLDIERS' BONUS TO OPEN NEXT TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Hearings upon the soldiers' bonus bill will be opened next Tuesday before the House ways and means committee. It was decided today by the Republican members of the committee by a vote of fourteen to one.

The sole opposition to immediate action on bonus legislation is said to have come from Representative Moughton, of New York, recently selected as American ambassador to Germany.

FORMER BRIGADIER GENERAL IS CHARGED WITH SHOOTING MAN

The United States Veterans Bureau, where he was employed.

"I am sure that the committee will not countenance for a moment this outrageous proceeding and I shall demand that it call all concerned to account," said Watson. "Furthermore, if what Green says is true, the persons who harassed him at Cincinnati were guilty of nothing less than robbery. I shall communicate with the district attorney at Cincinnati at once."

"In addition, I purpose to ask director Forbes, of the United States Veterans Bureau to see that Green is reinstated in his position."

Green, who said he was fifty years old and a veteran of the Spanish American and World wars, the Mexican border expedition as well as of the British Expedition against the Boers, had told the committee of alleged wholesale killings of negro soldiers in France.

He said that at St. Nazaire, he saw 2 negro bodies in the morgue and at another time nine, all shot and that the guard had told him military police known as "the nigger killers" had killed them.

Green also said that at Chateau rex he saw on one occasion, the bodies of two negro soldiers who had been shot by the military police, while on another occasion, when he was on guard at the gate, a detail brought in the bodies of 6 negroes.

In his letter, made public today by Senator Watson, Green said: "My legion friends at Cincinnati, Ohio, held me up and took my suitcase containing army discharges, decorations, evidence and other matter which cannot be replaced."

"Upon my return I was informed that my services in the United States veterans' bureau would no longer be required. This, of course, is no surprise to me, after they had deprived me of my home, my wife and all that a man and soldier holds dear. But the veterans' bureau is in reality the American Legion. The reason is quite obvious."

Watson introduced Green's letter before the committee and Senator Brandegee announced it would be considered in secret session.

Watson also exhibited a telegram received from Green today in which he declared Carl D. Hibbard, district manager of the United States Veterans' Bureau, had ordered J. C. F. local supervisor, to discharge.

"I am also ordered to take a special examination to disqualify me for training," the telegram declared.

FOUR UNDER ARREST CHARGED WITH NEGRO LYNCHING AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 26.—Jim Dooley, Hamp Dooley, Herbert Thomas and Cal Hawks are under arrest today following grand jury indictments returned last night charging them with connection with the recent lynchings of three negroes at Oconee, near here.

The two Dooleys and Thomas have been lodged in jail here. Hawks is imprisoned at Watkinsonville.

It was said that the investigation in to the deaths of the three negroes, who were killed December 5, is not finished and that other indictments may follow.

The probe followed the killing of Aaron Birdsong, Geo. Lowe and West Hado, negroes, who were reported to have been lynched by mob. It has been stated since, however, that the men lost their lives while resisting arrest by a sheriff's posse. Three members of the posse were wounded by the negroes.

Referring to Cox's statement that public opinion had "steadily borne the destiny of America each day to the league of nations," Willis said that the former Ohio governor, "may think there is a trend toward the league of nations, but if so he is practically alone in this opinion."

POSTPONE TIME FOR MILLER'S APPEARANCE BEFORE BOSCH TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The appearance of Col. Thomas W. Miller, the alien property custodian before the federal court at Boston with respect to hearing upon the sale to his predecessor, A. Mitchell Palmer, of the former German-owned Bosch Magneto Company, may be delayed until he has time to assemble the records demanded in the subpoena served upon him. It was learned today.

Miller was ordered to take the records of the Bosch sale to Boston tomorrow. It has developed, however, that the documents now in the office of the alien property custodian are not sufficient to be fairly responsive to the probe embodied in the subpoena and it is understood that Miller contemplated asking District Attorney Harris at Boston to grant him additional time to gather together the documents demanded by the court.

FRAMING SOLDIER BONUS BILL UNDER WAY IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The work of framing soldier bonus legislation started today in the House ways and means committee with unofficial conferences among members as to the least objectionable tax that might be levied to raise an estimated $500,000,000 needed for the first year of the bonus law.

It was the opinion of members of the committee and of some House leaders that a form of sales tax would be agreed upon finally by the ways and means committee as most likely to cause least friction and complaint.

The committee set out promptly on its task both in response to the general demand that the legislation should be enacted without delay and to head off any criticism that might come from House Republican members who will caucus tonight for the purpose of hastening the bonus.

The caucus is scheduled to declare for the bonus and pledge the House leaders to its prompt report from the ways and means committee and its continuance before the House as unfinished business until finally passed.

The ways and means committee is to be left free to provide means for payment of the bonus, either by tax receipts or partly from tax receipts and foreign debt principal and interest payments, but the caucus will declare in favor of the bill carrying measures for making it effective.

Ways and means committee members announced today there would be no change in the plan of offering five alternative plans of adjusted compensation, cash, insurance, home aid, farm aid, land settlement. This plan was approved a few months ago by the committee and remains satisfactory.

The difficult question facing the committee is the kind, size and character of the special bonus tax and the length of time it shall run. It is possible the tax will be levied for one year's bonus, payments thereafter to be made from principal and interest of foreign loans.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL LOAN AUSTRIA TWELVE MILLIONS WITH STRING

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Great Britain has consented to advance a loan of £2,000,000 (nominally $12,500,000) to Austria on condition that it is expended under British supervision. It was learned at the treasury department today. If the loan is finally negotiated, Austria will be the first of the enemy powers to secure money from an allied nation.

The British conditions for the loan, in addition to the supervision of its disbursement, are:

1.—That some of the money be used to pay for American foodstuffs.

2.—That a portion be used to pay Austria's foreign debts.

3.—That the remainder funds be used judiciously to revive trade and stabilize exchanges.

It is believed that Austria would double her present supply of currency if the money is secured.

Austria threatens to engulf Austria as a result of the complete collapse of the exchange rates and the serious economic situation, according to advisers received from Vienna today.

The Austrian government is in appeal to Great Britain to point out that unless the loan is forthcoming the ministers cannot be responsible for the future of the nation.

Premier Lloyd George is expected to take up the Austrian situation with the United States shortly, probably asking America to suspend loans against any loans that are made to the Vienna government.

FOUNDATIONS LAID FOR ILLUMINATED AIRWAY

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The illuminated airway project between London and the continent, which has been talked of for several years, is now on its way to realization. The foundations of a new aerial highway, supported by a series of towers, will be laid on Friday Hill, near Wokingham, and work is now proceeding on the erection of a tall steel tower. The light tower, when completed, will be visible thirty-two miles away.

RENT THE SPARE ROOM

You can increase your weekly income by renting one or more of your extra rooms. Vacant space costs money. You are paying rent for it, but you do not use it. Make it yield an income by renting it to some congenial person.

In this way you can obtain extra revenue to meet the ever-increasing housekeeping bills.

STEP on the STARS

LOREL LADD
O'DEN

Professor Semynov replied blankly. "The policeman on guard outside Miss Shaw's door happened to be an old acquaintance. He helped me to open the small skylight in the main hall which led to the roof. From there I descended the fire escape; to the window of Miss Shaw's studio and I looked up in a bare, hard chair in a chamber that I fear was not a normal one, for a small carton of turpentine was beside her. I went through the studio, examined the pitifully few ornaments and other things and found no paint or other stains, nor any indication save soap."

"Climbing further down the fire escape, past the windows of my own apartment, I came to those of my neighbor, Henry Griswold. His dreams must have been deep. He smiled as I looked at him and made sounds in his throat like those of an exultant dog over a bone. And mentioning that stuffed monstrosity which holds the place of honor in his sitting room was the only object in the whole apartment that gave any evidence of having been cleaned in the last decade, and I found it redolent of various chemicals, among them also a stronger odor of turpentine."

"The dog!" muttered Barry. "The stuffed dog!"

When I had completed my search there I left as I had come. That portion of the fire escape ends on the ledge below as you know, on the skyline of Mrs. Vane's studio, but a plank-way runs around the edge to the outside row of windows of the extension, where the second section of the fire escape begins and continues to the street.

"War Gordon Ladd out or alone?" Remarked Barry, half incredulously. Professor Semynov smiled meaningly.

"Neither, at first. When I appeared at the window of my studio I could see through the door that led into his living room. He was tramping up and down, and though I do not pretend to be a psychologist, I would be willing to swear that sorrow alone, grief that tore at his heart-strings, was reflected upon his face. He was in solitude, aware of no eavesdropper, and yet I saw no signs of either grief or fear."

"You returned then, Professor, the way you came?"

"Yes; for a soporific made from a formula of my own which is less harmful and more effective than that in which Miss Shaw had indulged. With it I returned by way of the fire escape to Mr. Ladd's window and rapped on the chime. He was as startled and resentful, naturally, but when I made myself known to him not only as his neighbor but as the person you know at headquarters, he admitted me. I think the poor young man was glad of someone to talk to after your departure the full import of what had occurred must have descended upon him. We had a sympathetic little hour, in which I learned much that had no bearing upon the crime but which I will tell you of later, and at its end he was quite willing to take the opiate and get a little rest and succor from his grief. He fell into a deep sleep almost at once, but it was then morning and I could make only a superficial search. There was turpentine nowhere but in his studio."

"So we drew a blank, eh, Professor Semynov?" Barry shrugged. "Sorry to have kept you up all night and made that request of you for nothing, but I had a hunch that someone who had no business to do so had touched that portrait of Mrs. Vansittart last night while the paint was wet and brought away traces that they would try to get rid of at all costs."

It was the professor's turn to shrug. "I know nothing of that, for I have not yet heard what you may have to tell me, my friend, but the turpentine I did find, and in a most unlikely place," he observed. "You forget that horrible stuffed dog in the apartment of Henry Griswold."

"No," responded Sergeant Barry thoughtfully. "I have not forgotten the dog."

CHAPTER VIII

"You may have forgotten the dog, but I have not forgotten my breakfast!" Professor Semynov laughed. "You have had your breakfast? Then while I make my tea I hold you to your promise to tell me what is permissible of your investigation."

"It seems fairly evident, then, that Miriam Vane, the portrait painter, was born only a few years ago." He remarked when the detective finished. "I wonder who inhabited that splendid room before that, and who have she wrought in the lives of men and women?"

"Oh, undoubtedly she buried a part of some kind, but as I told the chief, it need not have been a discriminate one." Barry's matter-of-fact. "I was in sharp contrast to the dreamy about my life which had come into the Russian's voice."

"And the empty carriage shell?" the professor reminded him. "No, my friend. That was her ghost of Ben quo."

"I think so myself." The sergeant rose. "I won't keep you from your laboratory any longer now, professor. Will you let me know the report of the medical examiner after the autopsy? The full report, whether it is given out to the press or not," as Professor Semynov. "I make particular reference to the fact that when the shot that killed Mrs. Vane may have been fired."

"A spiteful guess that detective parted slightly."

But you have calculated that all ready, Mr. Vane said last night that he returned here to your rooms that

It must have been fired by someone she knew who was in the studio with her and that she may have turned from her canvas to speak to this person and so presented the opportunity for an impeded aim."

Again the professor smiled and this time it was with a significance which told Barry that it would be useless to dissuade.

"You forget that I spoke then before I had made my search of all the apartments for traces of turpentine," said the professor. "I respect your professional reservations, my friend, but I, too, have eyes! In the studio of Mrs. Vane I observed the raised window shade, the little bull's-eye of the cross in red paint on the back of the portrait and the small puncture which had penetrated it, and turning, I looked over at that dark and silent house across the strip of garden. Some of its blank, staring windows were directly in line and I wondered—"

Not another word on the subject could Barry persuade that eccentric scientist to utter and the latter departed, still smiling, to leave the detective in a decidedly reflective frame of mind. Time passed, however, and descending the stairs, Sergeant Barry easily persuaded Kedge to unlock the door of Henry Griswold's temporarily empty apartment for him.

After dismissing the janitor he proceeded to force the drawers of the desk neatly and with dispatch but the documents and ledgers with which it was filled told him nothing, and in spite of himself the rigid form and fixed, gassy stare of the metropolis, most-often old bound in the corner seemed boring into his consciousness reproachfully as though even in death the beast would guard and defend his master's possessions.

Leaving the desk at last he crossed and examined the stuffed animal closely. It was, as the professor had said, redolent of turpentine and the stinky, spicy odor of taxidermy of other days. He was fingering one of the long still silky ears when the door suddenly burst open with such force that it banged against the wall and Griswold strode in, stopping short in speechless astonishment and affront when he beheld the intruder.

Then his glance traveled to the rined desk and found his voice in a string of oaths which left him panting and mottled of countenance.

"Just a moment," Mr. Griswold, Barry remarked smoothly. "Your apartment was entered and your desk opened by official authority and I think your interview at headquarters with the chief during the last hour must have told you that even you cannot combat it. Who owns this house next door?"

He shot the question so unexpectedly at the angry man that for a minute Griswold blinked. Then he replied with a gulp:

"The Gotham Realty Company."

"Who is the president of it?"

"I am, and I refuse to reply to any further question."

"But Mrs. Vane has stated to witnesses whom we can produce that you and she knew each other before she ever came here," Barry declared.

"Then she lied!" Griswold cried, his temper rising again. "I never laid eyes on the woman!"

"Mr. Griswold?" Barry asked quickly. "What was that dog's name?"

"Marcus, but we called him Mark for short." Griswold drew him self up. "Now that you have asked your last idiotically irrelevant question, Sergeant Barry, will you go?"

But Barry seemed not to have heard the furiously uttered request. He still stood stroking the stiffened drooping ear of the beast and remarked:

"He looks quite lifelike, Mr. Griswold, with that dejected expression. I should not have called him Marcus but Mopau."

As the canine fell from the detective's lips the change in the man before him was instantaneous and hideous beyond all description. His golden skin turned a sallow gray and he slunk back and seemed to wither like a mummy that is unrolled.

"Mopau!" It was a mere breath that issued from between the thin, dry lips. "Mopau!" She called him that."

"She? When?" Barry's voice rang through the room and then indeed the mummy came to life.

A harsh, choking cry rentled to him and Henry Griswold staggered over to the chair by the table and flinging his arms wide buried his face in them.

"My wife!"

Store Flooded By Buyers Wednesday

One of the largest and most successful special sales ever put on by any firm in Daytona was the one-hour sale of Quality brand aluminum ware at the Gruber-Morris Hardware Co. yesterday afternoon.

The sale started at 3 o'clock, but long before that hour the street in front of the store was packed with eager purchasers. When the doors opened promptly on the hour there was a football rush for the inside of the store. The clerks were almost overrun, so thick was the crowd and many prospective buyers went away because it was impossible to get waited on.

Those persons who were not able to make their purchases yesterday will be able to supply themselves with very useful aluminum articles left over from the special sale, and which will be sold at the reduced price for the rest of the week.

The crush in the store was so heavy during the sale that one old lady was crowded through a glass show case and was extricated with difficulty. She appeared not to be injured.

There will be a Woman's Union missionary meeting at the social rooms of the Congregational church, commencing at 2:30 p. m., Friday afternoon, January 27. There will be very interesting speakers from the following ladies from out of the city: Miss Woodbury and Miss Schultz, who are both experts in missionary work. All women of the Triple Cities and vicinity are cordially invited to attend.

Freezed is the third largest user of chewing gum.

Ironing Machine at Steam Laundry Blew Up This A. M.

A few minutes after ten o'clock this morning, a machine used for ironing and stretching underwear blew up in the plant of the Steam Laundry, throwing the employees into a near panic. The upper floor where this machine is located soon filled with scalding steam, causing the colored girls to run for their lives.

This machine, cast of aluminum, is built to stand about 75 pounds of pressure and when 100 pounds of live steam was fed into it, the metal could not stand the strain. Pieces of the casting were thrown clear across the room, narrowly missing a laundress.

Outside of the broken machine, the only damage done was a burnt house dress, caused by one of the colored girls leaving an electric iron standing on the dress in her hurry to get out. The iron had burned a hole through the dress and was burning into the ironing board cover.

As soon as the steam could be turned off from the engine room the girls went back to work.
